Sunnah of the week

One of our main focuses at Cambridge Street School is to nurture our children to become the best possible human beings. To build on this we have started a few initiatives in which we hope to increase the character and faith of our students. We have begun our Sunnah of the Week, where the children learn of a new sunnah every week and are encouraged to implement in their daily routines. These are also shared with parents so they can encourage implementation at home.

Sunnah of the Week

Start every action with Bismillah

"Any important work that does not begin with Bismillah is imperfect".
(Musnad)

Action: Say Bismillah for every act

Sunnah Sports

Horse riding? Archery? Swimming? These are some of the sports we have introduced to make your child's experience in school more enjoyable whilst acting upon the sunnah. The boys have started to go for sessions on these sports to learn and gain experiences they have never had before. Here at Cambridge Street School, we strive to expose the boys to new experiences and in this instance the importance of keeping healthy physically and mentally through exercise. And the best benefit of all, to learn the sunnah of our beloved prophet, peace be upon him.

Kicking for success

We always endeavour to reward and highlight the achievements and positive learning of our boys. For this reason, the boys who had done well and excelled in their merits count were taken to Kick Off in Dewsbury to release their positive energy, enjoying some football matches for a couple of hours. They had an excellent time putting their footballing skills into practice.

Magna Madness

Our Year 7s enjoyed a fantastic day out at Magna Science Adventure Centre where they had a hands-on experience packed with interactive exhibits.

Exploring the wonders of science and technology in their four pavilions – Air, Earth, Fire and Water, splashing in water, working a real JCB, being amazed by the fire tornado and even exploding a rock face enabled them to bring their STEM experiences to life.

They thoroughly enjoyed themselves by roaming around the centre discovering the various displays available for them to see.

Annual Student performances and prize giving ceremony

Cambridge Street School held their annual student Jalsah and prize giving ceremony. The CSS family got together where students took part in school plays, recitation of Quran, nasheeds and speeches. Students were then honoured and awarded for their efforts they made throughout the term.

Well done to all students who took part!

Taking Care of Our Community & The Elderly

We organised a special visit to the Linson Court Home situated not so far from our school to raise understanding of the elderly community in Batley. The visit was organised to include a short rendition and speech from our students and most importantly to put a smile on the faces of our residents.

During the visit, the students shared key Islamic beliefs and messages about the importance of looking after the elderly and being a means of bringing comfort to them in old age. Students then with great care and warmth, greeted the residents and gifted them with some beautiful hampers which the children themselves had made and bought.

Due to some being bed ridden or tired, the students had the opportunity to go visit some of them in their rooms where they were greeted with lovely smiles. Seeing the tears and smiles of the residents of the care home was the cause for us to take away invaluable lessons from this visit. They were overjoyed and expressed genuine happiness at the goodies they received with many telling us to please come again. Many students expressed their wish to visit again as they found it so fruitful.

Experimental Fun

Students have regularly had fantastic opportunities to take part in exciting experiments in their science lessons.

Future Cycologists

Once again students enjoyed taking part in Bikeability, a practical and professional training programme which helped students understand the importance of road safety. The course also encouraging to upskill the students in their confidence, decision-making, self-esteem and perseverance and resilience, all whilst enjoying biking.

CSS Election Fever

Students got their competitive spirits flowing in our search for our new school council. Students were given the opportunity to present in front of the school to convince the pupils of why they should be elected. They were given some valuable advice on how a leader should be and what traits they should possess. Some gave passionate speeches which won over students placing them as frontrunners for the elections. Well done and congratulations to the boys who were elected and have been given an important responsibility by their peers.

Welcome back to our CSS ambassadors

CSS family were delighted to welcome back our ambassadors from their extra long summer holiday. We hope they enjoyed their well deserved break after having a busy year eating and sleeping!

Weavers Weaving

As part of the arts and craft curriculum arts and crafts lesson students were visited by a local artist where a weaving workshop took place.

The artist taught the students to warp their looms with yarn. They then had a choice to weave through a mix of fabrics, ribbons or yarn so they could work with different mediums. The students engaged really well during this session and were keen to learn more of this and other art based activities.

The Pearl

This school does not belong to you or me
It is a pearl from the ocean for all to see

The children here are from all corners of the globe
And they will wear a beautiful thobe

Respect at it's heart
That is how you become smart

With love for one another
